Our mission is to develop innovative and elegant flooring solutions, adding a value of excellence and sophistication in the development of projects with the main goal of delivering the best products and quality service in the wood flooring industry.

WOOD CHARACTERISTICS
WHY US?

Timeless appeal starring natural wood as a prime element. Unlike prefabricated floors, every part is entirely different, you can expect a unique design that can never be replicated.

Made up of layers and layers of plywood that have been bonded together before being topped off with a solid wood layer, engineered wood comes as an extremely durable option suitable for most areas in the home.

One of the most significant advantages of engineered wood is that it doesn't expand and contract the same way solid wood flooring does, making it resistant to temperature fluctuations, a heat resistant flooring type.

Our method of plywood is constructed, in 2-3 layers construction, with individual wood fibers glued in a perpendicular fashion with engineered wood that comes in a wide variety of wood species, styles, colours, finishes, textures and plank widths — the top layer can even be sanded and refinished at your taste, achieving beauty and stability to your floor.

Engineered wood has a plywood base that holds up well against moisture, it can handle fluctuating temperature so it can be resistant to all the adversities.

Our floors are designed to be stable and tolerant to environmental changes, allowing them to be used in a wide variety of situations.

Inspired in European cities to create these innovative wood flooring designs with characteristics that level up the game, such as resistance, comfort and elegance.

Oak is very durable wood and because of its visible wavy grain, it gives a distinctive look. Plus, one of the major benefits is that it lends itself particularly well to finishing and doesn't expand and contract to any great extent.

With a broad colour spectrum, you can expect to find a grand variety of oak flooring options from light, grey tones to dark, honey colours. Investing in an oak floor will leave you with a result that lasts more than a lifetime because it's particularly hard, strong and heavy wood. European oak comes in various grades and colours, that will depend on the look you're hoping to create.

From a dark colour to a lighter tone, the Silver Collection has characteristics that makes it one of the most wanted type of flooring in interior decor due to its flexible looks, since the patterns can be designed in plank, herringbone, chevron or any other type, for being sourced from all over the globe and for its vibrant and natural colors. All this to assure you get premium material.

The raw and natural appearance highlights any room just by reflecting the luxury and comfort on your feet.

HERRINGBONE

HERRINGBONE

A timeless and popular choice. The Herringbone style has roots going back centuries. Distinctively recognised by an arrangement of rectangles, so named for a fancied resemblance to the bones of a fish, such as a herring. Truly inspired by nature, the classic Herringbone pattern is sure to make a statement when laid.

PLANK

PLANK

Watch any interior design show and you'll see how horizontal strips can make a room look larger and more spacious. It adds warmth and a timeless feeling to your home. The natural grains, knots and burls found in wood are highlighted in plank flooring. Plank flooring is available in a variety of board widths and species, which can make a difference when deciding on a pattern for your space.

CHEVRON

Chevron is an inverted V-shaped pattern. The first use of this can be traced back to old pottery design in Knossos, Crete which dates back to the Bronze Age. This was also first seen as flooring in the 16th century in Europe. With its aligned pattern, the Chevron floor looks like a long line of straight arrows.

VERSAILLES

VERSAILLES

Cut into squares, rectangles and triangles, the floorboards in this pattern fit together like a puzzle to form a large square of flooring with diagonal floorboards. A stunning design element that adds a feeling of luxury and elegance to a room that increases the sophistication and stylishness of an interior design.
